DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 57-59, 61, 64-66 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Waters (4623497).

Waters teaches the mold (11, 13) with cavity (16) with the passage acting as a chamber (18A, 19A) that a uniform wall that separates the cavity from the chamber, the select fluid fills the chamber and a condenser (10). The valves and pumps (37, 41) control the pressure within the system.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Waters in light of the pump and controller system to ensure the amount of fluid is in the system and for removal of gases and as such able to have mostly only the fluid in the gas and liquid state in the system.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 10/7/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments by the applicants have been considered. The arguments by the applicants have also regarded the uniform temperature via the uniform thickness between the chamber and the cavity. This has been noted, however, the Waters reference does teach this same substantial thickness that runs along the cavity with the chamber and thus also with the noted valves, pumps, and controller system, the reference teaches all the claimed structural limitations and capable of operating under the noted conditions with the fluids within the system.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 33-35, 44-56 are allowed.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art of record fails to teach a method of cooling the mold die and articles wherein the mold having a completely closed chamber having the chamber filled with the liquid and then extracting a portion of the liquid, the liquid passes through a condensing means for cooling, condensing, the vapor, the liquid returns to the chamber to return the space by gravity.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Glover (6104611), Choo (6062299), and Klein (5289869).
